

PLOT-ted Differently

DIRECTION: Choose one important event from The Flowers of May. Rewrite it in a creative form while preserving its role in the plot. Your version may change the perspective, style, or presentation, but it should still serve the same purpose in the story's sequence.

PLOT POSITION

Chosen Event:

This event belongs to:

- Exposition
- Rising Action
- Climax
- Falling Action
- Resolution

Why is this event important to the plot?

REPLAY THE EVENT

Choose ONE:

- Dialogue Rewrite
- Poem
- Diary Entry
- Social Media Post
- Alternate Perspective

Your Creative Rewrite:

PLOT CHECK

What plot function does this event serve?

- Introduces characters or setting
- Builds conflict or tension
- Reveals a turning point
- Shows consequences
- Resolves the conflict

How does your version preserve that function?

Complete the statement:

"This event matters because it helps move the story from _____ to _____."
